Hello, I'm Ruslan

Over the years, I have studied various areas of IT. From the development of mobile applications and games to IT management. I took various courses in the field of IT to understand what I like most. And most of all I liked the Front-end development in which I want to move forward. I don't have much experience or many projects at that moment, but I'm sure that the main thing in any business is desire, and I have it.
